

ActiveCare Medical and Home Patient Services Establish Strategic Alliance

COLUMBIA, SC, July 11, 2008 – ActiveCare Medical and Home Patient Services (HPS) today announced a new, strategic partnership between the two companies. Under the agreement, ActiveCare will provide its high quality power wheelchairs and scooters to HPS members at a special contract price.

“This exciting new partnership with ActiveCare will give our members the ability to purchase power wheelchairs and scooters at a price normally reserved for the very largest national providers,” said Timothy Waits, president and CEO of HPS. “This will give our members a competitive advantage that should translate into a higher degree of profitable sales through competitive bidding. After evaluating ActiveCare, we found them to have a superior product and refreshingly personalized service that is rarely found in the larger manufacturers.”

Steve Neese, president and CEO of ActiveCare, said of the agreement: “Our commitment to HPS is that ActiveCare Medical will provide the highest quality product at a great value to their members.”

Neese added, “In addition to great prices, we offer HPS members a responsive parts department staffed with experienced people who understand the need for quick turn-around and expert advice. In today’s hypercompetitive environment, we believe that this union will significantly improve HPS members’ competitive position as well as their profitability.”
