Columbia, South Carolina (September 8, 2008) – ActiveCare Medical announced today a new alliance with California-based Wheelchair and Scooter Repair (WSR). Under the new agreement, Wheelchair and Scooter Repair will provide repair services for all ActiveCare power mobility products.

“We’re pleased to be able to offer service to our customers through Wheelchair and Scooter Repair,” said Steve Neese, ActiveCare’s President and CEO. “With the growth in our industry of Internet sales and drop shipping, repair service for the consumer can be a big issue. WSR is a much-needed service outlet for those who buy our products online, and also for people who do not have easy access to our other authorized repair centers. Additionally, WSR allows dealers to offer a service component to their business—a necessity when working with Medicare.”

Wheelchair and Scooter Repair is an American Commission for Health Care (ACHC)-accredited repair, delivery and set-up company for power mobility products with licensed service technicians located in all 50 states. WSR offers rapid response to consumer and dealer requests and can diagnose and repair any electronic or mechanical fault within ActiveCare’s power wheelchairs and mobility scooters.

As part of the alliance with ActiveCare, WSR’s Premium Service Program is now available to ActiveCare’s dealers. The plan provides one year of WSR support on ActiveCare products, covering labor for warranty service calls, phone support and assistance and competitive rates on non-warranty repairs. WSR’s repair services are covered by most insurance.

One year of the Premium Service Plan for a product costs significantly less than the cost of a single, typical service call. WSR also manages all warranty paperwork and return shipments.

“Because service is outsourced, dealers are free to concentrate on other aspects of their business, such as promoting growth,” Neese added. “By offering the added value of service through Wheelchair and Scooter Repair, we are providing our dealers another way to control costs and improve their bottom line, while also, hopefully, increasing loyalty and satisfaction within their customers.”
